[3:29 pm, 01/01/2026] Shantanu Panigrahi: THE BALANCE PARTY that was based first on Singularity as published in the New Charter by Abhishek Prasad was subsequently given straight forward words by you and due to the rush to enter it into the EC PEF website and get it activated by paying the Registration Fee I let it go without understanding what was being conceptualised by you. As it dawned on me in view of the original political parties that I submitted and which are still under consideration of EC, that I did not wish to go down the route of your BALANCE PARTY due to leaving out my spiritual principles and we talked and turned it into a UNIVERSAL BALANCE PARTY. This is now revised again as the NEW UNIVERSAL BALANCE PARTY by me and is the only version that I will allow the EC to assess.

Constitution of the Universal Balance Party

The Universal Balance Party (UBP) is solely founded by Dr Shantanu Panigrahi of the United Kingdom on 29 December 2025.

Preamble: A Commitment to Renewed Purpose

The formation of the UBP is a response to the critical challenges facing our society. In an era marked by societal fragmentation, escalating political polarisation, and a significant decline in public trust, a new approach to governance is not merely desirable but essential. Our political landscape has too often become a battleground for competing interests rather than a forum for resolving shared national challenges. This movement emerges from the conviction that a path toward renewal is both possible and necessary. Spirituality in public life and its relationships to private appreciations of the hidden realities of the universe are not in synchrony.

Our foundational philosophy is the principle of coherence that balances practical governance with enduring ethical principles and spirituality. We seek to bridge the gap between the demands of everyday policy and the fundamental and universal truths that must underpin any just, stable, and sustainable society. This stems from our deepest appreciation on how the universe was created by God and how it is maintained through the harmony of interactions between different components in what is an intrinsic interconnected cosmology. Our purpose is to ensure that the pragmatic decisions of the present are accommodated within the Ultimate Reality with an informed clear-eyed view of our long-term collective well-being.

What the UK governance has not done well is to appreciate and incorporate universal spirituality in its secular-politics which the Founder of UBP as a self-realised soul sees as being a gross mistake. Existence takes place at various levels between the vyavaharika (the practical world life) and paramarthika (the ultimate reality beyond mind and matter): these realms need to be balanced through the enactment of adjustments on a daily basis by the individual as well as the governance of the nation and more widely humanity itself. This is what UBP philosophy rests on. Materialism and spirituality therefore need to be in balance too for a coherent and holistic approach to creating harmony in Nature. This is seen to be universal in terms of the belief that the cosmic law is the expression of Vedic Rtam righteousness and morality politics without which the planet Earth and the wider universe succumb to destruction and disharmony.

This constitution, therefore, formally establishes the principles, structure, and vision for a political movement dedicated to restoring fairness, integrity, and a sense of common purpose to public life. It is the foundational charter for a party that will champion evidence-based policy, reasoned debate, and a renewed commitment to the common good.

Article 1: Name, Identity, and Emblems The name, description, and emblems of the party have been carefully chosen to communicate our core values to the electorate. They serve as a clear and immediate signal of our commitment to moderation, integrity, and principled governance, distinguishing our approach from the divisive politics of our time.

1.1 Name: The official name of the party is the Universal Balance Party.

1.2 Ballot Description: The official description for use on ballot papers is: “Unity in Truth: Balancing Liberty, Justice and Sustainability.” •

1.3 Emblems: The party has adopted the following emblems to represent its guiding philosophy:

- Primary Emblem: Truth. This emblem represents our unwavering commitment to integrity, transparency in government, and the formulation of policy based on verifiable evidence and reasoned analysis.

- Secondary: Hindu deities, Dharma-chakra

- Tertiary Emblem: Ashoka pillar depicting peace and rejecting wars to solve conflicts through spirituality-dialogue.

These symbols are the outward expression of the deeper philosophical principles upon which the UBP is built.

Article 2: Core Principles and Philosophy

This article constitutes the philosophical heart of the UBP. These integrated principles form a coherent ethical framework that guides all party actions, policies, and objectives. They are the intellectual and moral foundation for a principled and constructive alternative to the prevailing political discourse.

2.1 The Principle of a Coherent and Ordered Reality We proceed from the foundational understanding that existence is a single, interconnected system governed by inherent and discoverable laws of harmony and balance. Human society, the economy, and the natural world are not separate domains but are inextricably linked. Wise and effective governance, therefore, is the practice of aligning human activity—socially, economically, and technologically—with these fundamental principles. By doing so, we can foster profound societal well-being, ecological stability, and a sustainable future for generations to come.

2.2 The Principle of Principled and Proactive Engagement The party is committed to a mode of action defined by principled and proactive engagement. We champion a dynamic, constructive, and energetic force for positive change. This approach is consciously chosen to be distinct from two unproductive extremes: the passivity and complacency that allow problems to fester, and the reckless or destructive impulses that create instability and harm. Our philosophy is to channel focused energy, innovation, and resolve toward solving the most pressing national and global challenges thoughtfully and responsibly.

2.3 The Principle of Human Potential and Ethical Responsibility We believe that all actions, whether individual or collective, have consequences that shape our future. Humanity possesses an inherent capacity for continuous growth, learning, and ethical development. This principle translates into a core commitment to fostering a society that encourages lifelong learning, personal and institutional accountability, and the elevation of our collective consciousness toward greater compassion, wisdom, and foresight. This is not an abstract ideal, but a practical commitment to building social, educational, and political systems that enable every individual to realize their full potential and contribute meaningfully to the common good.

2.4 The Principle of Non-Violence and the Defence of Justice Our party holds a profound and primary commitment to non-violence, diplomacy, and the peaceful resolution of conflict as the highest ideals of a civilized society. This commitment, however, exists in balance with an equally paramount duty: the resolute defence of fundamental justice, universal human rights, and the protection of the vulnerable against aggression, tyranny, or systemic oppression. While peace is the goal, the active and courageous protection of righteousness is the non-negotiable foundation upon which true peace is built.

Together, this holistic philosophy provides the moral and intellectual foundation for building a just, prosperous, and sustainable future for all.

Article 3: Aims and Objectives

3.1 The Party aims to principally work for

(a) Written Constitution in the United Kingdom, with Reforms to the House of Commons and the House of Lords consistent to the findings of the Leader of the Party as set out here demonstrating the total void in the disbursal of justice for the ordinary citizen in the United Kingdom:

The details for reference on the evolution of the Party can be found here:
<https://www.theconservativelibertariansociety.com/about-1>

(b) The Party will campaign for a Dharma-Rashtra in the United Kingdom based on Vishista Advaitic principles of morality politics, that would incorporate truth, justice for ordinary citizens, equality, democracy, transparency to tackle corruption in high and low positions of power, and tolerance of all people and biodiversity on the basis of its belief that God resides in the psyche of all living creatures so that discrimination and violence is wrong (himsa).

The Party will promulgate the principles of Green Socialism with an entrepreneurial spirit that works to the perception of karma in sanatan dharma, that is to say the actions that align with the universal cosmic order known as Rta in Vedic times. The aims of the UBP are the practical application of our core philosophy. The following objectives are not arbitrary goals but represent the logical and necessary steps required to manifest the principles of balance, integrity, and unity in our society and its governance based on spiritual accommodation to cosmic law of harmony.

3.2 Immediate Aims (0–2 Years):

To complete all legal and administrative requirements for official registration as a political party with the Electoral Commission.

To recruit a founding membership and establish a fully compliant internal governance structure, including the appointment of statutory officers.

To launch the party's public platform and communications strategy to introduce its vision and principles to the nation.

3.3 Medium-Term Aims (2–5 Years):

To contribute constructively to the national discourse on democratic renewal and the long-term stability of our constitutional framework.

To launch a Global Harmony Forum, a UK-based platform designed to foster international dialogue on conflict resolution, global ethics, and environmentally-sustainable development.

To advocate for substantive and practical reforms to the criminal justice system to improve its fairness, transparency, and efficiency for all citizens.

The Party will be internationalist in Nature but within national boundaries it will forge relationships in all the nations of the Planet encouraging the creation of political parties with the ethos and principles of The Conservative Libertarian Society and develop interactions through the Directory created for this purpose named Conservative Libertarians (Vishista Advaitists) at <https://knowledgefoundersunited.com>. Each country inhabitants acceptance will be adapted to local conditions such as culture and economics. A common international value system will emerge but parties in different countries will be independently developed with their own indigenous names of Vishista Advaita.

3.4 Long-Term Aims (5–10 Years):

To field candidates in general and local elections across Great Britain, offering a credible and principled choice to voters.

To champion the global development of transparent, rights-based governance through international partnerships and advisory networks.

3. To advance and implement policies that ensure national and global ecological stability, securing a healthy planet for future generations. Achieving these aims requires a clear and principled approach to governance and public policy.

Article 5: Guiding Principles for Governance and Policy

This article translates the party's abstract philosophy into concrete pillars for policymaking. Every policy developed, adopted, or supported by the Universal Balance Party will be measured against these five foundational standards, ensuring a coherent and principled approach to governance.

1. Unity Across Communities Policies must be designed to strengthen social cohesion by fostering mutual respect, understanding, and cooperation among all cultures, faiths, and identities within our society.

Education for Life The educational system will be reformed to cultivate not only traditional academic and vocational skills but also the essential life competencies of critical thinking, emotional intelligence, financial literacy, and civic responsibility.

Responsible Global Citizenship Britain's role in the world will be defined by a steadfast commitment to international law, constructive diplomacy, humanitarian leadership, and proactive cooperation in addressing shared global challenges.

Good Governance We will uphold and enforce the highest standards of transparency, ethical leadership, and accountability in all public institutions, ensuring that government serves the public interest effectively and fairly.

Sustainable Prosperity Economic policy will be guided by the principle of "Green Social Balance," an approach that purposefully integrates innovation and sustainable growth with environmental protection, spirituality and the responsible stewardship of our natural resources for the long term.

These principles are designed to be fully aligned with established domestic and international legal frameworks, including the Human Rights Act 1998, the Equality Act 2010, the Climate Change Act 2008, and the United Kingdom's obligations under international law.

The party's finances will be managed with complete transparency, including the publication of annual reports, to ensure the highest standards of financial probity.

Our commitment to internal democracy and ethical conduct is absolute and forms the bedrock of our political project.

Article 6: Global Vision and International Commitment

In an interconnected world, domestic well-being is inseparable from global stability. We stand at the dawn of a profound societal shift—a 'Singularity' propelled by artificial intelligence, biotechnology, and other exponential technologies. This transformation presents humanity with its single greatest challenge and opportunity. The United Kingdom has a vital role to play in navigating this new era with wisdom and foresight.

Our vision is for a Global Unity-Culture—a new mode of human civilization consciously designed to ensure we flourish in an age of unprecedented change. This requires a wisdom-driven social order where technological advancement is infused with deep ethical foresight. We advocate for moving beyond historically dominant models to foster a more equitable, collaborative, and harmonious international order, capable of stewarding the immense power of emerging technologies for the common good of all humanity.

To this end, the party holds the following international commitments:

To actively promote the peaceful resolution of conflict and uphold unwavering respect for international law and its institutions.

To champion the universal cause of human rights and support sustainable development initiatives that empower communities globally.

To advocate for equitable global governance structures that incorporate diverse perspectives and foster collaborative solutions to shared problems.

To lead in forging and strengthening international agreements to address the most critical challenges of our time, including climate change and the establishment of robust frameworks for the ethical oversight of emerging technologies.

By acting as a principled and constructive global citizen, the United Kingdom can best secure its own long-term prosperity, security, and international standing.

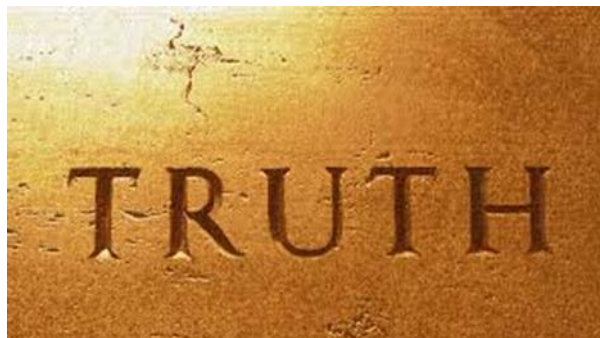

Article 7: Amendments and Dissolution This constitution provides the enduring framework for the Universal Balance Party. The procedures for its amendment or for the dissolution of the party itself are designed to be democratic, deliberate, and transparent, ensuring the integrity of the party's foundational principles.

7.1 Amendments: Amendments to this Constitution shall require the affirmative vote of a two-thirds majority of registered party members present and voting at a duly convened National Conference. All approved amendments will be subsequently notified to the Electoral Commission as required by law.

7.2 Dissolution: The dissolution of the party shall require the affirmative vote of a threequarters majority of all registered party members. In the event of dissolution, any and all remaining assets of the party, after the satisfaction of all liabilities, shall be transferred to a registered, nonpartisan charity whose objectives are demonstrably aligned with the core principles articulated in this constitution.

Concluding Affirmation

UBP is founded on a simple yet profound premise: that we can and must do better. We offer a positive alternative to the politics of division and short-term thinking. This constitution is a charter for a movement dedicated to restoring integrity to our public life, fostering unity in our communities, and securing a sustainable and prosperous future for our nation. We invite all who share this vision of a fairer, more united, and ethically-governed society to join us. Together, we can transcend the polarization of our time and build a future guided by balance, integrity, and a renewed sense of common purpose.
